

The Credit Market Lens: The AI Split Between U.S. Dollar and Euro Investment Grade

PIMCO · lotfi karoui · 2026-08-10 · English original

Statements concerning financial market trends or portfolio strategies are based on current market conditions, which will fluctuate. Outlook and strategies are subject to change without notice.

Past performance is not a guarantee or a reliable indicator of future results. Forecasts, estimates and certain information contained herein are based upon proprietary research and should not be considered as investment advice. There is no guarantee that stated results will be achieved.

All Investments contain risk and may lose value. Bond investments are subject to market, interest rate, issuer, credit, inflation, and liquidity risks. Bond prices generally fall when interest rates rise, with longer-duration bonds typically more sensitive to rate changes. Reduced market liquidity may increase price volatility. Investors may receive more or less than their original investment upon redemption. Investing in foreign-denominated and/or -domiciled securities may involve heightened risk due to currency fluctuations, and economic and political risks, which may be enhanced in emerging markets. Corporate debt securities are subject to the risk of the issuer's inability to meet principal and interest payments on the obligation and may also be subject to price volatility due to factors such as interest rate sensitivity, market perception of the creditworthiness of the issuer and general market liquidity. Concentration of assets in one or a few sectors may entail greater risk than a fully diversified portfolio. The current regulatory climate regarding AI is uncertain and rapidly evolving, and future developments could adversely affect a portfolio and/or its investments.

References to specific securities and their issuers are not intended and should not be interpreted as recommendations to purchase, sell or hold such securities. It is not possible to invest directly in an unmanaged index.

PIMCO as a general matter provides services to qualified institutions, financial intermediaries and institutional investors. Individual investors should contact their own financial professional to determine the most appropriate investment options for their financial situation. This material contains the opinions of the author and such opinions are subject to change without notice. This material has been distributed for informational purposes only and should not be considered as investment advice or a recommendation of any particular security, strategy or investment product. Information contained herein has been obtained from sources believed to be reliable, but not guaranteed. No part of this material may be reproduced in any form, or referred to in any other publication, without express written permission. PIMCO is a trademark of Allianz Asset Management of America LLC in the United States and throughout the world.

Source: <https://www.pimco.com/us/en/insights/the-credit-market-lens-the-ai-split-between-us-dollar-and-euro-investment-grade>